World wide spread of COVID 19 had its victims everywhere not sparing the field of education. The restrictions lay by the state and Central Governments prevented the student folk from attending their regular classes. Their higher education was badly affected. To some extent, online classes offered support to them. Yet, due to online network problems, rural and hill-station students cannot be reached, resulting in a lagging- behind of online process. Keeping in mind the inability of non-reachable students who are not able to be online, the faculty members of Trinity College for Women are conducting YouTube classes, which allow the learning process at an easy and leisure time pace. The students are stress free this way and attend with a full mind set during their visit to their YouTube link. This process was much potential and fruitful for the students during the COVID 19 lock down period.
